

SLOW MOTION

To rip the face
That faces the truth
Pour all the sparks of light
And understand disappointment
Cool, cool your body

The thickness of days
Where everything runs out
In slow motion
I stare at the book
That screams and shouts your name
In silence

Close the door
To face the heat
Those strange old words you said
I can't reach

The vastness of the unknown
Lonely traces of memories
Untold

I look at the world from above
We reached the lost space
Broken and expecting
Nothing at all
I'm living in the cold
With the sunlight above
Shinning over our lost worlds

The thickness of days
Where everything runs out
In slow motion
I look at the sky above
Into the heart of life
And scream
